

Lebanon is Farm Country and one of Connecticut's largest agricultural communities!

With almost 10,000 acres of farmland (of which over 5,000 are permanently preserved), Lebanon is a Connecticut capital for the cow and goat dairy, poultry, cheese-making and nursery industries.

Lebanon's historical and agricultural roots are inseparable. Its farms continue to provide food and fiber necessary to sustain the masses -- just as they did at the time of our nation's founding!

Maintaining a significant agricultural base is the central theme of Lebanon's planning and development. Maintaining and growing Lebanon's agricultural base is good for the tax base and important to providing and protecting our treasured opens spaces and scenic vistas, local economy and tourism, wetlands and wildlife habitat, and public health.

By buying local YOU can support your neighbors and community and help keep Lebanon's farms
and forests viable!
